Just send your request and description to DanPoynter@ParaPublishing.com.

Draft your request so that I do not have to edit it. Make it SHORT (100 words max), no italics or bold type. Just describe the book in a few words; don't send a lengthy review of it. Lengthy submissions will be returned for rewriting or ruthlessly cut. Reviewers only need enough information to see if they have expertise and an interest in your category. Supply full contact information including your email address. Write the draft as it should appear so that I do not have to do more than Copy\Paste. Put "Review Wanted" in the subject line.

11. The Warrior Sage: Life as Spirit by Phil Nuernberger, Ph.D.

Phil Nuernberger combines the wisdom and knowledge of the East with the science and practicality of the West in writing and speaking nationally. In Warrior Sage (Indie Excellence 2009 Book Awards Finalist in the Psychology category) he carefully examines conventional theories, revered dogmas, and cultural formats regarding the human potential that are held in high regard by scientists, religionists, the business realm, and the public. Leaving no major paradigm unexamined, he illustrates the inadequacy of our cultural biases that have held society in their throes and provoked the social conditions that face us today. Then he offers a new idea.

18. Portals to Europe by Kathy Noltze describes pitfalls and joys of unfettered travel designs. Neither a history book nor a travel guide, this lighthearted narrative weaves historical facts and poignant tips into modern journeys. 23. I would like to have my book reviewed. It is currently listed on amazon.com and barnes&noble.com and through my website.

Surviving & thriving in the HR World is for those who want to succeed in Human Resource Management, or in any leadership role. A person can have all the paper credentials and still not make it as a leader, if they fail to have the right image, fail to build a power base, and don't have a plan to succeed. My book tells it like it is in blunt language and few words. For review copies, contact jim@casadecareers.com. Website is casadecareers.com.

24. On November 30, 2001 Nissa (a young mother) collapses in her home and is rushed to the hospital. When family members arrived she is unresponsive.

Imagine being told that your loved one will never walk, talk, or breathe on their own again and being faced with the decision of keeping them on life support or pulling the plug and letting them go.

In November of 2001 Nissa's family was told that she may have a five percent chance of recovery and that is was highly unlikely that she would ever gain any functionality. They were advised by the doctor that taking her off life support would save the family a lot of heartache and medical bills.

Nissa's family chose not to take her off of life support. And so the journey began – from the proclamation that her life was over to the radiant inspiration she is today.

This story will take you through all of the emotions, give you strength and leave your heart filled with hope.

I am seeking reviews. For a review copy, contact: gerimarshall1@gmail.com

This book deals with more than just two people who discover they are twin flames. The unusual experiences they shared include the heart-wrenching fate of watching her husband suffer with a terminal illness. A free copy is available for review by contacting starbeacon@gmail.com. 27. Yoga American Style by Prem Prakash

Yoga American Style (National Best Books 2009 Award-Winning Finalist in the Spirituality: Inspiration category) stirs the reader to reflect upon the comprehensive principles of yoga that have made this ancient inheritance of humane wisdom. Unlike a scholarly tome that gathers dust on library shelves the author's words speak to people in our real, stress-filled cities and towns. He applies yoga to the cultural matrix of earning a living, raising children, and finding employment in a jobless market, aptly demonstrating how yoga psychology is meant to lighten our problem-saturated times. Prem Prakash speaks nationally, teaches yoga and lives in Vermont.
